A Tale of Two Lemurs: stories of the fascinating ecology and evolution of the world’s most endangered mammals

Join Dr. Sarah Zohdy, who has spent over a decade studying these fascinating creatures, to hear first-hand tales of the smallest primate in the world (the mouse lemur), the most endangered primate in the world (the greater bamboo lemur), and what is possibly the oddest looking creature on the planet (the aye-aye).